

Sources in the Master Pedigree Database

July 11, 2012

As you use the Master Pedigree Database, you will discover that each record has a source. Sources are of two types as noted below, and you can tell how many times we have received updates on a particular source by the revision number that is part of the source title (for instance, r10 means that we have received the original file and 10 updates):

1. Sources that have the form of a letter of the alphabet followed by three letters (as in A009) are SGGEE member supplied records from their personal family records. You can contact any member to find more information about that record by using the email address noted in the source. In the event that no email address is noted, then send an email to databases@sggee.org and we will let you know if there is any way to contact that member. You can also look up that member to see where they live by using the membership data at http://www.sggee.org/members/member\_data
2. Sources that have the form SGGEExxx (SGGEE followed by three numbers) are records from databases supplied by members who have extracted records for whole parishes, or other specific areas of interest. Those records are generally not the records for the extended family of the person who performed the extraction of the data, so we would ask that you not try to contact the person who did the extraction, as we want them to continue on other extraction efforts without having to stop and answer specific questions about their previous work. In order to assist you in recovering more data about individual records than is shown on our website, we ask that you send an email to databases@sggee.org and ask about the source data for specific records. Often we will be able to provide you with a family group sheet that shows you the Family History Library film number and the number of the registration on that film so that you can obtain a copy of the original record. Note that we do not generally have copies of films to provide you the copies, but we do in some cases, so you can always ask.
